The Doctor's Dilemma
#gooddoctors
How do you stay safe in the GREY AREA definitely not eeerrm...
absolutely yes
we don't have a shared understanding we always need multiple voices
NO LIMITS
ETHICS has NO Limits start training early
PROCESS
ETHICS = Wisdom
PROCESS
needs to be ROBUST
LAW of the LAND
VS
Me
Personal ETHICS
we have different lenses
there have been cases I question my decision 57%
wary of publishing results 52%
compassion motivates most drs 49% agree
the health system embraces ethic of learning
47% more to do
THE LIMITS OF ETHICS
DATA
THE CLOUD
It's not always clear what to do with informal knowledge
I don't trust that cloud...
FRIEND
BF
MUM
DAD PATIENT
WHO IS IN THE ROOM ?
WHO STAYS
clear checklist needed
BE BRAVE
confidentiality can be over-stated 95%
DEFINITION: SERIOUS INCIDENT need clarity
IS IT ?
ISN'T IT ?
CONFIDENTIALITY + REPORTING
50%
doctors are resilient but need support 44%
I might be penalised for asking for help 54%
a supportive environment is achievable if prioritised CONSENT consent can be difficult
I don't understand
yes
so I recommend...
IT CAN'T BE BLACK or WHITE it's all GREY GOBBLEDYGOOK
TRANSLATION
PLAIN ENGLISH
critical appts can be confusing/overwhelming more information should be shared before appointments regulations need to leave room for dr's judgement RULES
TOO MUCH INFORMATION!
SAFEGUARDING
PLAIN ENGLISH FORMS CLEAR GUIDELINES
give GPs the tools Questions
Triggers
???
It's not clear
HISTORY
STANDARD PROTOCOL
which path is not always clear...
DOMESTIC VIOLENCE
ALCOHOL
EMOTIONAL ABUSE
I'm unsure... communication skills are IMPERATIVE more training is needed to give us confidence in our actions
