	I am a registered psychotherapist and have recently commenced private practice secondary to my employment within Blackpool Child & amp; Adolescent Mental Health Services.
	My clients are accessing specific relational psychotherapeutic support. They are adults and are aware of how to access services in the community. My clients approached me via the UKCP (UK Council for Psychotherapy) register.
	My clients were asking for a specific intervention that I am able to offer, namely relational therapy. I advised as to community services specifically Relate-Relationship Counselling. I advised my clients to take their time in considering their available community based options and they have clearly stated that they wish to see me in my capacity as a registered psychotherapist.
	They have a son who they have asked about his accessing therapy. I have been clear about a potential conflict of interest and advised as to how they would access therapy for him. I have advised that the family could refer their son to community services e.g. CAMHS	_ or Youth Therapy. I have advised as to how they could do this e.g. referral through Single Point of Access via)
